NEW YORK (N. L.), 5; BROOKLYN, 3. The Brooklyns gave the Giants a stern chase at Washington Park yesterday after-noon, tying them in the eighth inning and then losing the game in the eight inning and then losing the game in the ninth through a fit of wildness which seized upon Pastorius, coupled with a base hit by the redoubtable Mr. Murray. Pastorius walked three men in succession in the ninth inning, clamming the ball in too hurriedly for standiness. His ascension was a complement to that made by Marquard in the eighth inning. The Rube was very canny for seven innings, but collapsed in the eighth.

McGraw, as soon as he was convinced that his left hander was flying distress signals didn't stand on correspond in taking signals, didn't stand on ceremony in taking him out of the game. Marquard was provoked thereat and showed it by throwing his gieve up into the grand stand. Ray-mond took the place of the pouting sub-ordinate and repressed the Brooklyns with a minimum of damage. The latter part of the game was exciting, the New Yorks. of the game was the doing, hitting up the dip under pressure. Murray and his iron but not only won the day for New York the dip under pressure. Murray and his iron but not only won the day for New York but. Bed made a great stop of a base hit in right field, a hit which would have been a two bagger otherwise and eventuated in a run. Doyle played nice ball for the New Yorks too, whereas Devlin and Bridwell were shaky.

Murray perished on a fly in the third inning with three on bases and two out, reserving his best efforts for later. The right side of the Brooklyn infield was at cross purposes in the fifth inning, which condition was the source of New York's first run. Schlei poked a single to left, Marquard bunted, Hummel and Pastorius going for the ball and nobody being on first when Pastorius finally got it. Tenney sacrificed and Schlei came in on Doyle's sacrifice fly.

The New Yorks scored twice in the sixth, one run being fairly earned, the other being due to another misplay, more overt than the oversight in the fifth. Murray singled, and though a sacrifice was looked for from O'Hara the latter whaled away and hit to centre for three bases, scoring Murray. O'Hara came home when Devlin's jumper was missed by Alperman. Had Alperman been able to make just an ordinary stop the second run wouldn't have materialized for Devlin would have been out, with O'Hara still at third, and an infield fly and outfield fly came hext.

Clement shaved the first base line with a three bagger in the sixth and rode home on Hummel's fly to O'Hara. Clement singled in the eighth and Hummel doubled, a savage rap which left Devlin's shins at a sharp tangent. Bridwell rumbled Alpermans grounder and Clement tailied. Bridwell tried to make up for his jugglery with a quick throw to Devlin to head off Hummel, but he threw wild. A pass to Lennox congested the bags and Lumley emptied one of them with a fly to O'Hara on which Hummel scored. The fly was extracted from Raymond's offerings, but the Bug got out of a bad situation well. Alperman was forced on McMillan's speedy drive to Devlin. Devlin theway mile over first trying to make a double play. However, the

as far as third on it and Bergen gave Tenney a lukewarm grounder.

The New Yorks came back hard in the ninth, while Brooklyn's exhibition in the same inning was feeble. Pastorius took care of Schlei's grounder, which encouraging start had a reverse effect on Pastorius. He fired the balls up to the batters rapidly and flightily and Messrs. Raymond, Tenney and Doyle had acumen enough to wait it out. Pastorius found the plate for McCormick and made him hit a grounder to Alperman, who threw Raya grounder to Alperman, who threw Raymond out at home. There still were three on, and Murray wasted no time in selecting what he wanted and banging it into centre field. Two runs came in. Murray ran into McCormick, who had stopped at second base on the throwin, and McCormick was run down easily enough, a crack in the machinery which didn't amount to much, as two runs were over. two runs were over.

Raymond was fully warmed up in the ninth inning and struck out the last two batters, Clement and Hummel. The score:

NEW YORK (A. L.), 3; WASHINGTON, 0. The Washingtons are through in New York for the season, and their au revoir yesterday was a whitewash for them. The Highlanders had them on the hip, dead to rights, likewise where their hair was short, beating them by a combination of the gilt edged pitching of Tom Hughes, snappy fielding and the diagnosing of Johnson's pitching for timely hits. Spry fielding plays, in which Chase, Cree and Hemphili performed adeptly, repulsed the Washingtons when they were so near to and yet so far from a run. Hughes struck out eight of the invading batters, but did not confine his endeavors to one particular line. A hit of his sent two runs across the plate and fitted into the programme beautifully, for there were two out when it was made. Johnson held the New Yorks at bay in all the other innings, though the Highlanders were on bases oftener than the visiting men. Taking chances on the bases proved a losing plan of action for the

the visiting men. Taking chances on the bases proved a losing plan of action for the Washingtons, Sweeney throwing with precision when they tried to edge forward a base.

In the first inning, after Milan and Conroy had been returned to the bench harmiess, Unglaub screwed a hit around to right and went to third on Donohue's bif in the same direction. Hughes made a throw over to first to nip Donohue, and Unglaub thought that the psychological moment to beat it to the plate. Chase is something of a student of psychological moments himself and pegged home to the undoing of Inglaub. Hemphili made a fine catch off McBride in the second inning, devouring the drive while under full headway. It would have been a two base clout at the least but for Hemphili's intervention, and as Delehanty was on first at the time a run was throttled. The New Yorks came just as close to a run in the second, in fact closer, for Demmitt reached third on a triple, with only one out. Knight flied to Unglaub and Demmitt was called out, the claim of the Washingtons that Demmitt left his base too soon being supported by the umpire, the court of last appeal in such matters.

Chase was left after fast running had converted his drive in the fourth into a three bagger. The New Yorks were gradually getting the hang of Johnson's ways and in the fifth inning they made good use of their opportunities. Johnson passed two batters, Demmitt and Sweeney. Demmitt stole second while Knight was fanning and took third on an out. Sweeney stble second after being shipped gratis to station I. Both runners vacated for the more desirable location of the plate when Hughes jarred a asfety loose from the Johnsonian assortment.

Chase's energy and skill baffled the Washingtons in the sixth. Johnson flied to Haline the Nimbie and Milan walked. Corroy chopped to Chase, who tagged him en route. A pitched ball put Unglaub on first, but that favor proved a boomerang to the Washingtons. It put Milan and Unglaub is a position to be forced, which Unglaub was when Chase with a tiptoe glide fastened on to shonohue's infield knock and laced the ball across the plaza to Elberfeld at second base. Nifty, also shifty work.

SALVATOR GELDING CUT LOOSE BY OWNER COULTER. Breezes Home in Long Distance Event or the Grass-Black Mate Scores at Long Odds Tim Pippin, Evening Song, Fashion Plate and Ningara Win

The long expected coup with Beauclere materialized at Sheepshead Bay yesterday, when the Salvator gelding showed a startling form reversal and won the Gloaming Selling event, one mile and a half, turf course. For several weeks the paddock sharps were whispering to one another about Beauclere, but nobody caught a glimpse of the high sign from Owner Tully Coulter. Beauciere ran in the ruck several times with a little boy named E. Lynch in the saddle and the wise men were soon per-plexed. But just before the race yesterday the bee began to buzz.

"This is the day," said a well known "This is the day," said a well knewn turfman who is always in the know. "Coulter has his friends here and Beauciere is ready!" Little Lynch had the mount, and as soon as the speculation began there were many oral wagers on the good thing, the price dropping from 10 to 4. The Wrestler, 5 to 2, and Rio Grande, 8 to 1, cut out the pace for nearly a mile, when Lynch began to move up with Beauciere. The Salvator gelding caught the pacemakers in a jiffy and then with a world of speed he rushed away from them and galloped home with six lengths to spare in 2:33, equalling the track record. Johnson Wins Singles Final-Hackett and Little Defeated at Middle States Tourney. One final match and a couple of big surprises somewhat enlivened the Middle States championship at Orange yesterday. This final occurred in the singles between C. M. Bull of the Crescent A. C. and Wallace F. Johnson, the Penusylvania State cham pion. The match went the five full sets, caused principally by the fact that Bull was all the time able to nail Johnson's cross them and galloped home with six lengths to spare in 2:33, equalling the track record, held by Miss Crawford. Bonnie Kelso, 3 to 1, ran into the place, with Gus Helm, a 40 to 1 shot, four lengths back. Owner Coulter was all smiles when Beauclere had been led away to the stable.

Black Mate, a 40 to 1 shot, fairly stunned the form students by winning the Grapple selling race, at a mile, in 1:39 4-5. He was under a drive as he passed the judges three parts of a length before Hill Top.

r caused principally by the fact that Buil was all the time able to nail Johnson's cross court and passing shots. Johnson finally won by 3 sets to 2. The winner plays W. A. Larned to-day on the challenge round. Johnson won his way into the semi-final by his defeat of R. D. Little.

The surprises of the day occurred in the second round of the men's doubles. Harold H. Hackett and flaymond D. Little went down before N. W. Niles and J. C. Neely, Jr. Little was a bit of his game, though Hackett and himself won the first set handliy, 6-2. By this time Niles was onto his opponent's tactics and with his partner he played a great game and accounted for the next two sets and the match. It was thought that E. P. Larned and C. F. Watson, Jr., should come out victorious over Otto H. Hinck and Harry Torrance. But the latter team maintained their form of the Metropolitan championship and they beat Larned and Watson two straight sets.

In the women's singles Mrs. G. L. Chapman won her way to the final round by her defeat of Miss Mills, the other finalist being Miss Louise Hammond. The final round of the women's doubles was reached, those to qualify being Miss Louise Hammond and Mrs. G. L. Chapman, against Miss Edna Wildey and Miss Souther.

The summaries:

who was in receipt of nine pounds from Prince Gai. John E. Madden's Miss Rearney, 3 to 2, outrun all the way, was an indifferent third.

he brought H. P. Whitney's Evening Song, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, on the grass. The start killed the chances of the Montpelier Stable's Zacatecas, who was well fancied at 5 to 2. The Chelsea Stable's Little King, 7 to 5 favorite, on the other hand broke running and led to the head of the stretch, where the son of Kingston began to stop. Then Page came through an opening with Mr. Whitney's filly, who won in a gallop by four lengths in 1:07 t-5. W. P. Reed's Good Intent, 50 to 1 shot, got a vigorous ride from Grand

There was a red hot finish in the Sir that made the spectators jump to their feet. V. Powers made nearly all the running with S. C. Hildreth's Montgomery, 3 to 1, but when the middle of the stretch

BRIGHTON BEACH TRACK MAY BE USED FOR MOTOR CAR RACING

Managers Reported to Have Made Definite Offer to Turn Seaside Course Over to a Syndicate of Local Dealers—Fast Cars Entered for Wildwood Races

It was reported last night on very good authority that plans are well under way for turning the Brighton Beach racetrack into a course for automobile racing. The officials of the track are said to have been conducting negotiations for some time with a number of local dealers regarding the formation of a syndicate to take over the practical control of the seaside course. The plan under consideration is that the automobile men will have exclusive control of the track for the remainder of this year, with the exception of one or two periods, in all ten days, when horse races would

If the automobile dealers and the track management come to terms the fences will be restored and work begun to fit the track for automobile racing. The track will be rolled and some efficient dust preventive rolled and some efficient dust preventive sprinkled over the surface to lessen the danger of accident during the progress of the races. At the present time the plans of the men interested in the project have in view the holding of three twenty-four hour races before the end of the season, with the possibility that some meets made up of short distance events will be conducted on some of the Saturdays better the dates selected for the twenty-four hour

J. R. R. Smith, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for New Jersey, has sent out a circular letter calling the attention of holders of manufacturers' registration certificates to the many complaints the department is receiving regarding violations of the law in the use of these number tags. The Commissioner says some of the complaints assert that dealers loan these tags contrary to the provisions of the law and that in some cases dealers send out cars that in some cases dealers send out cars without putting the number tags on both the front and rear of the machines, as is directed by the law. Commissioner Smith announces that hereafter when a car is found with only one tag displayed the registration will be revoked. In the case of loaned number tags the driver will be judged guilty of false registration and held for the action of the Grand Jury.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 2.—The automobiles carrying the New Jersey jubilee tourists arrived here this evening on the second day's run from Asbury Park. A call was made on Gov. Fort at the semi-capital at Sea Girt where the Chief of the State extended to them a royal welcome. H. L. Humphreys of New York, speaking in behalf of the visitors, praised the Governor for his work in obtaining laws more favorable to automobilists. The Governor made it clear at the start of a brief response that he was somewhat of an automobilist himself, announcing that he expected to have an automobile of his own soon. He has suggested to the Governors of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland and Connecticut a uniform law. He said that would make it possible for an owner of a car to drive from Boston to Washington with the same license. He did not believe, he said, that automobiles do more harm to the roads than other vehicles. He advised drivers of cars to use caution when passing horse drawn vehicles on the road.

The Chicago Motor Club will conduct its annual hill climbing contest on Algonquin Hill on August 5. Among the entries expected are those of three Thomas stock cars and a six cylinder Chadwick. George Salzman will drive one of the Thomas cars if they are entered, and it is possible that Arthur W. Greiner, the Chicago amateur whose illness prevented his driving his Renault in the Indiana trophy road race, will be at the wheel of one of the other Thomas cars in the hill climb.
